He presented many other points in illustration of his subject, which we have not the space to enumerate

A CONFIDENCE MAN CAUGHT .-- A man wh gave his name as Kenny yesterday morning in-troduced himself to a gentleman from one of the Eastern States, by the name of Rolf, or Rook, at the Patent Office. After looking at the many objects of interest about that build-ing, they started in company for the avenue when a third person was met and introduce to the Eastern gentleman as a Mr. Thomas. Kenny offered a hundred dollar bill to for him to take out a small amoun which he pretended was due him; but Thomas not having the change, Rolf was asked if he had any money, and replied that he had none but notes on eastern banks, which were no current here, at the same time showing abou ten dollars in bills of that description, Kenny immediately releaved him of his money by taking it out of his hands and running off.

sequently, Officer Browers succeeded in arresting Kenny at the National Hotel, and took him before Justice Donn, who immediately recognised him as an old offender. Gentlemen, of myself in the army I shall speak lightly. It is true that I was in the army of the United States for ten years, and there, it was often the ambition of men to rise in rank.

I was from time to time promoted in the service, receiving all the ranks that a private in the army could obtain. But in this company I wished for nothing more than to be high pri vate in the rear rank. You have decided otherwise; to your decision I bow with defer-

In accepting this position, I shall endeavor to do my whole duty, and nothing but my duty; enforce all orders issued by superior officers, and render a strict account of all delinquents. Without order and strict discipline, this pany cannot exist; with it, it may obtain a name which other companies who have vis-ited this city possess. From me, I believe, you will hear no rash word or unkind act, and if at any time any one should take offence at words spoken, speak kindly, and I will endeavor to avoid in the future.

The committee then retired, and the time was agreeably filled up by music from the band, calls for speeches from various individuals, among whom was the Mayor's clerk and others.

After a while, the committee entered the hall, and stated that they had agreed upon a series of resolutions, to which only one member objected, and he only in a slight particular.

The resolutions declare that the people of Georgetown can never admit the right of servering. That it is covered with resolution, that

Georgetown can never admit the right of se-cession; that it is coeval with revolution; that revolution is not to be attempted until all other means have been tried and failed to accomplish anything; that this meeting approves of the Crittenden proposition as a basis of settlement; reaffirm their unwavering attachment to the Union; assert that the refusal of the seceding States to submit their acts to the people is revolutionary and anti-republican; urge the repre sentatives in Congress to sink partisan preju-dice for the sake of the Union; and adopt as their motto the sentiment of Webster, "Liber ty and Union, now and forever, one and insep

The Position of the President Elect. Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29. — This morning's Journal contains an authoritative contradiction of a Washington dispatch to the press, stating that Mr. Lincoln had written to his Congressional friends, recommending conciliatory measures. It says the country may rest assured that in Abraham Lincoln they have a Republican President—one who will give them a Republican Administration. Mr. Lincoln is not committed to the border-State compromise, nor to any other. He stands immovable on the Chicago platform, and he will neither acquiesce in, nor counsel his friends to acquiesce in, any compromise that surrenders one iota of it.
